Young women during the war years found the campus rather sedate in the absence of the men. They nevertheless pursued their education while enjoying a somewhat different "Millsaps experience."

Long recognized as one of the best and most unique institutions of higher learning in Mississippi and the Southeast, Millsaps is on the verge of entering an exciting new phase of its life. Recognition and praise on a more national scale have made possible a very promising future for this small liberal arts school.

The purpose of Millsaps College has been its core of strength throughout the years. Born with the promise by Major Reuben Webster Millsaps to create "a Christian college within the borders of the State", the school was founded in 1890 with the help of the Methodist Church. The small school was built on the outskirts of the tiny capital city of Jackson, consisting merely of a main building and a handful of students and faculty members.

An arch? No security station? Our familiar State Street entrance has grown with the rest of the campus over the years.

The promise of providing a solid education for young people was foremost in determining the growth of the school—and grow it has. Not only have numerous students, professors and buildings come and gone through the years, but the academic program has continually adapted to the needs of the student. With the liberal arts as its basis, the college has aimed to cover the spectrum of learning, from the latest in scientific technology to the earliest works of classical civilizations.

Not only youthful undergraduates make up the student body these days. Older students may be found in the Adult Degree Program or pursuing a master's degree from the School of Management. With such programs and national recognition from major magazines and college guides, enrollment continues to rise, now topping 1,000.

The cast of a play some years ago, undoubtedly including aspiring young actors and actresses. College gives many opportunities to showcase talent.

The growth of the college shows no sign of slowing in the future. With Phase I of the long-range upgrade plan for the school recently completed, implementation of Phase II is already underway. The donation of $5.15 million for the construction of a new biology/chemistry building by the Olin Foundation started the ball rolling this year. The Olin Building, due to be ready for occupancy by the start of the '87-88 school year, will be the first part of a major campus overhaul. Included in this will be a complete renovation of Sullivan-Harrell Hall, a large extension to the library, new dorms and a rerouting of campus traffic. The $30 million Phase II goals of the Millsaps College Centennial Development are hoped to be realized in a few years, in time for the 100th anniversary of the college.

Hangin' out—a favorite pastime of Millsaps men over the years. Fraternity brothers and other friends can usually be seen together about the campus.

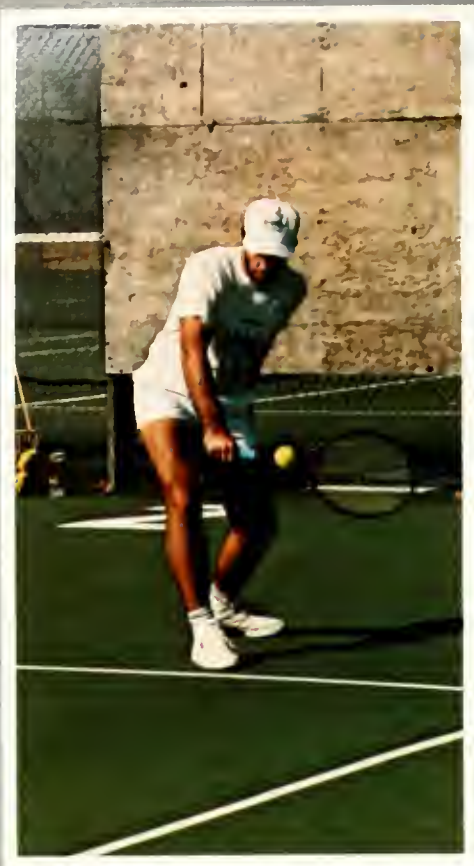

Millsaps College will, however, always be the small liberal arts school devoted to providing a thorough, top-quality education to its students. Millsaps students will always be the group of young people who study hard, play when possible and ultimately make these four years the most rewarding ones they can be. Millsaps professors will always be the demanding but fair mentors who are friends as well as teachers.

Major Millsaps made the first promise over ninety years ago. Since that time, the promise has grown, nurtured by the growth and achievements of the past. It is therefore with pride that we look back and with hope that we look to the future of Millsaps College; resting assured that the promise is being kept.

NIGHT OF THE LIVING ZOMBIE

What do you mean—study in advance for a test? What a preposterous idea! Sure, you think about it. You know that big test is Friday. But today is Sunday, and Sunday is a day of rest. You'll study Monday. Monday comes. Mondays are always bad days. Well, you still have three more nights to read those five chapters.

Tuesday rolls around. It's imperative that you attend a meeting. Afterward, your favorite programs are on television.

Wednesday is another day. You get this sudden urge to study for Friday's test. Ten, maybe fifteen minutes pass. It's Welfare Wednesday! Who would be crazy enough to stay home tonight?

Okay, serious business—it's now Thursday. Oh, the drudgery of cramming for a test! How do you condense three week's studying into one night?

The first necessity in preparing for this nightmare is a trip to Jitney 14. Coffee, No-Doz, and a few snacks begin this "night of the living zombie." You know the dorm will be far too rowdy, so you drag all your books to the library and plop them down at a desk on the first floor. However, it seems to be social hour there. Load up the books once again—second floor—private study rooms—that's where serious studying takes place.

Eleven o'clock rolls around. Devastation—you've only studied two chapters. You meekly smile as the librarian locks the door behind you—the last person to leave the library.

Well, it's back to the dorm. Doesn't your roommate look comfortable sawing logs? Quietly, you fix a cup of coffee, grab a bag of potato chips, and sit down at your desk to continue boggling your mind. As the clock quickly ticks away, you realize more and more that you should have prepared for this test. After a while, the words on the page become very blurry, and that tenth cup of coffee tastes like mud.

A pizza break is in order. You find one lone studier down the hall and call Domino's. Forgetting that they closed an hour ago, you run to Super Stop and get a piece of chicken and a couple of jo-jo potatoes—yum—food for thought.

Meanwhile, back at the dorm, the books are calling your name. You feel a little sick at your stomach after that bizarre dining experience, but you have to push on.

Okay, now you deserve a ten minute nap. Just lay your head down on those books. You will burn tomorrow. Great! The next thing you feel is your roommate shaking you vigorously. "Don't you have a test at 8:00? Well, it's 7:45."

You spring to your feet, wash your face, grab a few pencils, and dash out the door. You made it though the night. You didn't study like you knew you should—but, of course, as you always vow—you WILL be prepared for the next test.

Millsaps Announces Creation of New Department

Millsaps College has added a new Laundry department as part of its continuing commitment to meet student needs and interests. The surprise announcement has left many staunch defenders of Millsaps' avowed liberal arts rather fluffed.

Besides offering a major in laundry, the introductory sequence, "Laundry 101-102 Fundamentals of Laundry," will now be required of all incoming freshmen and will be counted as a lab science in their core requirements. Citing instances of freshmen doing laundry according to mothers' messages taped to clothes baskets or allowing unwashed garments to stagnate until Christmas, the Administration feels such a mandatory course will benefit the entire community.

Students are generally in favor of the new class, saying it will be fun and informative, yet simple enough to boost their GPA's. Opposition is from many starchy faculty who feel the new department is too "technically oriented to be in keeping with the educational character of Millsaps."

Dean of Students Stuart Good defended the Administration's decision by giving the following argument: "When students arrive at college, they must learn new skills which will enable them to function as productive adults in society. One rite of initiation is learning to do their own laundry. We feel the required course will facilitate a smoother transition from irresponsibility to subsequent maturity. We are not disposing of the tradition of fine liberal education at Millsaps; rather, we are attempting to fill a vacuum in the curriculum and be progressive. It is courses like this that get the college labeled as a "trend setter" by national reports."

Dr. Allen Bishop was offered the chairmanship of the fledgling department but declined saying, "All my spare time is being spent with my company which produces dinitro-chickenwire." Attempts were made to contact President George M. Harmon about the new department, but no one in Whitworth has ever seen the man when he wasn't smiling at and shaking hands with people who would give the college large sums of money to build new buildings and reduce the already minimum parking space.

What temperature would you use to get out a tough stain like taco grease from "Mexican Fiesta Nite" at the Cafe du Millsaps?

"I wonder if I can wash my new red sweatshirt in hot water with my nice white sheets?"

Sophomore Kurt Kraft diligently studies his textbook "Basic Laundry" while doing his first laundry lab experiment. Kurt is one of the students selected to pioneer this new and exciting course.

Which detergent would best remove this "subtle" reminder of your last "whoop juice" party? Should you add bleach?

"HOW can I get this blue ink out of my white shirt pocket? I've tried everything and I have to wear it tonight!"

101-102. Fundamentals of Laundry (3-3). This survey course encompasses basic theories and applications of washing. The first semester discusses principles of sorting, detergent, and machine operations; the second deals with folding, ironing, and basic Bounce use. A required lab will deal with any difficulties, use creative problem solving techniques, and familiarize students with more mundane concepts.

110. Intermediate Laundry Techniques (3). Building upon the general knowledge gained in the 101-102 sequence, 110 seeks to impart a more complete understanding of the subject. Stain removal, Woolite usage, and starching are representative of the more in-depth topics broached in this course. Three lectures and one lab period.

201-202. Washroom Etiquette (3-3). Addressing specific problems which often plague students while doing laundry, this course seeks to help students make fair and ethical decisions. How to determine who gets the only operating dryer and what to do about laundry abandonment are some of the moral questions raised for discussion. Three lectures a week.

221. Laundry Economics (2). For the business-minded student, Laundry Economics is a study of various techniques used to reclaim eaten quarters and coping with non-functioning change machines. Two lectures with accompanying lab. Offered fall only.

301-302. Historical Origins of Collegiate Laundry (3-3). Traces the development of washing methods from the old inefficient methods of the past to the sophisticated state-of-the-art, but still inefficient machines in use today. Prerequisite: Laun. 101-102.

Adapted from the Vanderbilt University Commodore.

364. Fiber Study (3). Various fibers are studied under varying conditions. Shrinkage, color fastness, and combustion points are considered at length. Spring only and in alternate years. Prerequisite: Laun. 101-102, 110.

395-396. Laundryroom Architecture and Design (3-3). How to set up a washing area so that water pools in the corner rather than running down the drains, and dryers lack the correct timing systems so that the laundry never fully dries. Two lectures plus one design lab.

453. Special Topics (2). This is an undergraduate seminar involving advanced reading, research, and writing in a particular area of laundry.

461-462. Senior Seminar (1-1). Creative and challenging projects such as building your own dryer and making your own detergent may be undertaken exclusively by seniors. Required of all laundry majors. One discussion each week, independent projects.

Millsaps' "Hot Spots"

Where did YOU go out at night?!

Christo's—Famous for its $2.75 pitchers, this was a good spot on Thursday night.

CS's—There is probably no other place that draws Millsaps students so well as this "hot spot". Inez Burgers and Cheese Fries (as well as the brewskies) are popular items on the menu.

W.C. Don's—Cheap beer and a pretty good band are the "Major" draws of this little night spot located behind the fast food shop on West Street.

Everyone knows that college students need a place (or three or four) to go to blow off a little steam (and a test or two) every now and then. But just where do all the Millsapians trek off to when the sun begins to melt slowly over the horizon and the moon glimmers lightly through the clouds? The first migration appears to be toward CS's, probably because it is closest to campus. Shortly thereafter, a group will split off and head in the direction of Christo's—being drawn by the $2.75 pitchers and large T.V. screen. As the evening wears on, the dispersion continues as students are found enjoying music at George Street, and W.C. Don's. Dr. Feelgood's is also another spot where students can do just that—feel good (after all the cheap brew). For those who like to dance and those who like to reach in the closet and pull out those "dancing shoes" there was the infamous Jack's. But alas, the moonbeams begin to fade and the sun peeks slowly over the eastern horizon and the night life settles back into the everyday life of an ordinary Millsaps College student. Just knowing that there will be another night out is enough to sustain one. And where will YOU go out then??

Above—A newcomer to the Millsaps “hot spot” list, Dr. Feelgood’s attracted its share of regulars. Right Holly?! Left—George Street is a place where one could get away from the bustling night life and relax to some easy listening tunes upstairs. Below—Sexuality Quiz . . . How many of you know where this is? How many of you will admit it?! Actually, this closet door located in the heart of downtown was frequented by many Millsaps students for various reasons. The dancing alone was a superb draw along with Beer Bust and friends. Jack’s is definitely on the list of “hot spots.”

Spring Break. That's the time that all students look forward to the most, except (of course) for summer. From the time the fall semester gets underway, students get together with their friends and begin to plan what they will do when the much needed break arrives in March. Plans vary, but the "usual" hot spots such as Florida and the mountains get the majority of the students. During 1986, Millsaps students journeyed to Destin, Panama City, Fort Lauderdale (where our friends barely escaped an escapade with the police), Mexico, Caribbean cruise, and Colorado. Quite often, fraternities will organize trips to go snow skiing for their members. Other groups rented beach houses for the week and soaked up the rays, while still others just went "beach camping". But no matter where it was spent, Spring Break '86 was quite a time for everyone—even for those who stayed home and studied for things like the MCAT.

Homecoming 1985

November 8-9 was a fun exciting weekend for students, alums and parents. The weather was perfect for all the outdoor festivities. On Friday and Saturday there were picnics in the bowl and pep-rallies. The cheerleaders were "kidnapped" by "mysterious strangers," but just in the nick of time the Millsaps Major came to their rescue!

Saturday, student organizations made elaborate homecoming floats. Millsaps played Washington in the football game. At the half-time ceremony President Harmon crowned Mary Vassar Ballard as the 1985 Homecoming Queen.

The Singers watch closely as Dr. Coker directs a phrase during the Spring Concert held in April.

The highlight of the year for the Singers was the 50th Anniversary Concert held in the fall. Present singers as well as past and faculty joined in the celebration. Here, Dr. Coker takes the stage as the concert is about to begin.

Gene Carlton and Leigh Ann Burns show an exciting conclusion to the Troubadours snappy number "Varsity Drag."

The Singers and Troubadours had an exciting year in 85-86. For the Singers there was the 50th Anniversary Concert, a fall and spring concert, and two weekend tours. They also sang with the Jackson Symphony in April. The Troubs also were a part of the Arts and Lecture series this year. They performed for a variety of groups including the Board of Trustees of the College. The Troubs ended their year with a concert for the school which was a great success.

A. Lee Barlow (piano) and Michelle Russell (flute) accompany the Singers during "Rise Up My Love, My Fair One."

One section of the Troubadours concerts featured a group of country songs. Here, they conclude the opening number to that section, "Through the Years."

Friday Forum and Arts and Lecture Series

Students at Millsaps College and members of the Jackson community are fortunate in that the College is so dedicated to expanding the cultural and intellectual enrichment opportunities in Mississippi. Each Friday programs are held from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. in room 215 of the AC. Topics range from Science to Sociology to Psychology. The Arts and Lecture Series provides opportunities for the community and students to see speakers and performers of a type not presented locally by any other sponsoring organization.

Founders Day And Student Symposium

Founders Weekend 1986 was February 14-15. During the course of the weekend Alpha Epsilon Delta, the pre medical honorary which had influenced countless numbers of Millsaps students, was recognized. Another highlight of the weekend was the recognition of Millsaps' Distinguished Professor. Dr. Richard Mallette received this years award at the Founder's Luncheon.

Schedule of Events

- Friday Forum—February 14, 12:30 p.m.
- Reception and Dinner—February 14, 5:30 and 6:30
- Aids: Fact and Myth—February 15, 10:30 a.m.
- Founders Luncheon—February 15, 12:00 noon
- Memorial Observance—February 15, 2:00 p.m.

The topic for this year's Student Symposium was "Issues in Medical Ethics." Issues discussed ranged from Genetic Engineering to Doctor-Patient relationships. The panel discussions were led by several distinguished doctors and scientists including Dr. Robert McVeatch, Dr. David H. Smith, Dr. Elof Carlson, Dr. Harmon Smith, Dr. Robert Bergmark, Dr. Thomas Brooks, Jr., and Dr. Ruth Black.

Schedule of Events

- "Moral Reference Points in Medicine"—January 21, 8:00 p.m.
- "Allocation of Medical Resources"—January 11, 12:00 noon
- "Ethical Implications of Genetic Engineering"—January 22, 3:30 p.m.
- "Doctor-Patient Relationships"—January 22, 8:00 p.m.

Michael Fette runs the obstacle course.

Sam Pooley runs across the Bowl in his new outfit.

Anne Jung carefully catches her egg in the egg-toss.

The wheelbarrow racers wait at the starting line.

Annual Classics Banquet

One of the highlights of every spring at Millsaps is the Annual Classics Banquet. The banquet is hosted by Eta Sigma Phi at the home of Catherine and Richard Freis. It is a time when classics students get together with their friends and celebrate "Roman-Style." Speaking of the banquet Terry Parker said, "It's the best party all year, no kidding!" The guest of honor this year was a huge roast pig which was quickly eaten. For the third year in a row Stuart Green led Greek dances in the Freis' back yard, "One, two, three, kick! One two, three kick!: Back by popular demand, Andrew Libby, David Moore, and Paige Sibley entertained the party-goers with scenes from the Oresteia. Everyone had a great time and left the party feeling a little more Roman than before.

Tim Patterson dons an ivy wreath—the official symbol of a classical reveler.

Pam Machado and Paige Sibley pay homage to the pig.

Lisa Reimer, Lisa Carol McDonald, Will Hawthorne, and Jerry Strowd head for seconds.

Suzanne McElhattan and Angelique Gregory, both Classics majors, model their togas.

Something for Everyone

In the Spring the Campus Ministry Team built a Shanty Town in the Bowl as a protest against Apartheid in South Africa. Here Greta Ham, Susan Bale and Donald Brooks work on its construction.

Constructing Shanty Town was hard work, and unfortunately it was a job that had to be repeated because vandals burned down the first town. Here students and teachers build the walls.

On April 15 Ira Jackson, the President of the Honor Council at Rhodes College, came and spoke with students about the possibility of establishing an Honor Code at Millsaps. In a poll taken by ODK students demonstrated their strong support for adopting an Honor Code here.

An interesting campaign sign.

At one of the picnics in the Bowl students listen to "Jean and Kelly".

Graduation

The bleachers were set. The folding chairs were at their post ready to be unfolded in a minutes notice. But alas, it was not meant to be. Graduation 1986—better known as The Fiasco 1986—was held in the Christian Center Auditorium for the first time in years. The administration kept hoping the 'gray skies were going to clear up', but the rain kept coming. Despite the weather and the overcrowded auditorium, graduation was quite a success. Baccalaureate services were held at Galloway Methodist Church that Mother's Day morning. During the afternoon, there was a reception honoring the Seniors, a showing of the Senior art exhibit, a music recital by graduating music students, and a ceremony to initiate a faculty member into ODK. The day concluded with the traditional ceremony and conferring of degrees.

Joey Rein and Ruby Hendricks, candidates for the M.B.A. degree, await the awarding of their diplomas.

Residence Hall Staff

Each residence hall has a resident director who is available to aid the students and supervise all aspects of the hall. In most cases, each wing has a resident assistant to answer questions, advise the living unit, and provide personal and academic guidance to the students. These people do a tremendous job and are sources of information, guidance, and new friendships.

Organizations

Phi Eta Sigma

Phi Eta Sigma is a national freshman honor society. It recognizes those freshmen who have attained at least a 3.5 overall G.P.A. The Millsaps chapter was founded in Dec. 1981.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

AED is an honorary pre-medical fraternity. Its purpose is to prepare pre-med and pre-dental students for graduate and medical schools by sponsoring speakers for such places as the University Medical Center. Second semester sophomores with a 3.0 overall and a 3.0 in pre-med courses are eligible for active membership. Associate membership is also open to those who do not yet meet the national requirements.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a national dramatics honorary. It recognizes students who have made substantial contributions in theater. Students are selected on the basis of the time they have contributed both on stage and backstage. Each year Alpha Psi Omega sponsors the Millsaps Players Banquet where awards are given to the best performers and backstage workers.

Circle K

Circle K International is a collegiate service and leadership organization. At Millsaps, Circle K members embark on long-lasting service projects with their motto of "We Build". Membership requirements include an above average GPA, a past record of service, leadership, awards and involvement as well as genuine desire to help others.

Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi, Millsaps' classics honorary, welcomes into its fellowship students of Latin and Greek who are dedicated to studying the ideals of classical civilization. Millsaps' chapter was founded in Dec. 1935. Catherine Freis is the faculty sponsor and the annual Roman Banquet at her home is eagerly awaited by all members. Other activities include films or special lectures on classical studies and the Greek Symposium. Criteria for membership are a 3.0 average after three semesters of classics and a 3.0 overall.

Pi Delta Phi

Pi Delta Phi, the national French Honorary, recognizes achievement in the study of the French language and literature. Students who have a minimum of 18 hours in French as well as a high G.P.A. are eligible for membership.

Theta Nu Sigma

Theta Nu Sigma, a national science honorary, opens membership to students who have had at least 12 hours of natural science and who have a G.P.A. of 3.0 in all sciences and overall. Theta Nu Sigma sponsors speakers on scientific topics throughout the year.

Chi Chi Chi

On March 3, 1966, Millsaps College tapped in members to its first chemistry honorary—Chi Chi Chi. Due to lack of interest, the chapter became dormant. However, last spring, four students proposed the idea of becoming active once again, and the honorary was revived. Qualifications for membership include a student to have 12 to 20 hours of chemistry with a G.P.A. of 3.0 in chemistry and overall, or 21 or more hours of chemistry with a G.P.A. of 2.8 in chemistry and overall.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta is an honorary fraternity for students and professors who have shown outstanding ability in the study and writing of history.

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta is the English honorary on campus. English majors who have shown academic excellence as well as a strong interest in English are eligible for membership.

Alpha Kappa Delta

Alpha Kappa Delta is a national sociology honorary. 1985 saw the chartering of a new colony here at Millsaps. Requirements for membership are: twelve hours of sociology/anthropology, a 3.0 in these courses, and a 3.0 overall G.P.A.

Schiller Gesellschaft

Schiller Gesellschaft is an Honor society especially for those students in German. The honor society promotes the study and discussion of the German language and of German civilization. A quality point index must also be attained as well as two years of German and a course in civilization.

Financial Management Association

The purpose of FMA is: to assist in the development of college students interested in finance, banking, and investments; to provide an association for college students actively interested in these fields; and to encourage interaction between business executives, faculty, and students of business and finance. Requirements for membership are 3.25 in 9 hours of finance and a 3.25 overall.

Fiction

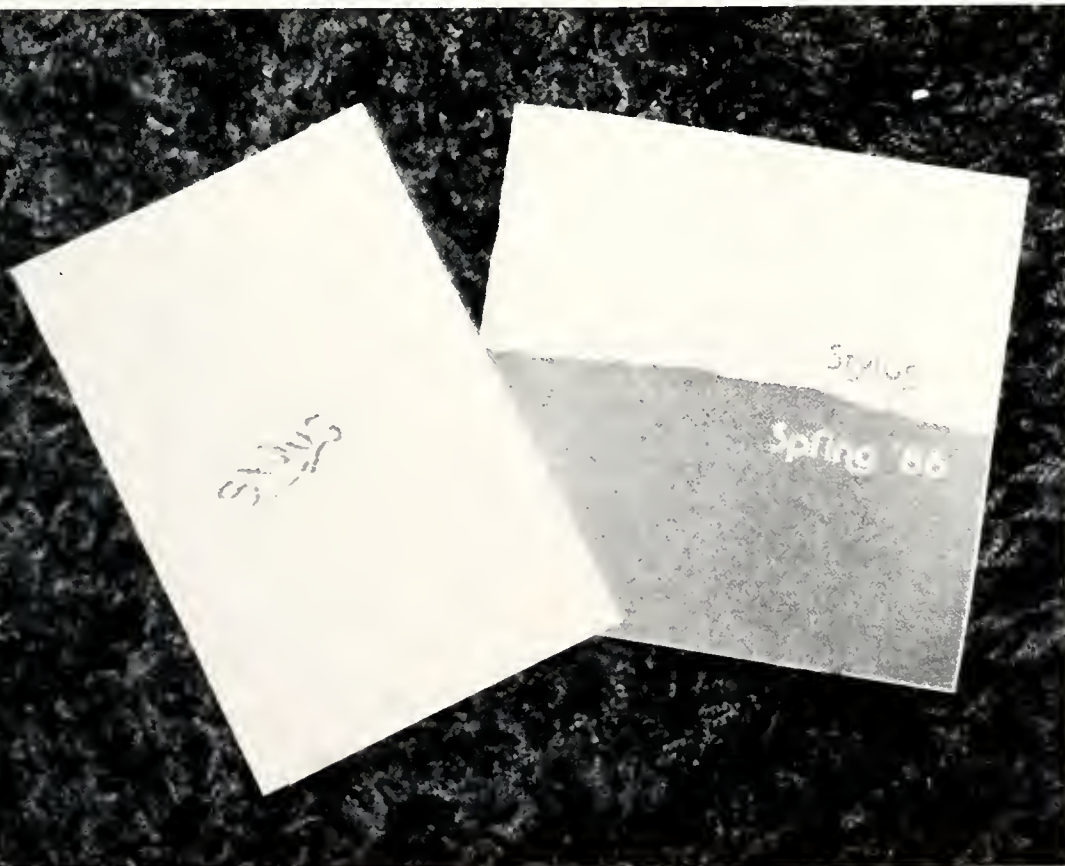

Millsaps College has a tradition of excellence which extends not only to its faculty and students, but also to its publications. One of these publications which never seems to get the recognition it deserves is the Stylus. Published twice a year, this literary magazine contains the creative works of many Millsaps students. Included among the pages are photos, fiction, poetry, and artwork. The staff has quite a decision to make before publication of the magazine because so many pieces are submitted. Editors are chosen each semester for the following semester.

The Black Student Association enjoyed a very successful year in 1985-86. The members began their year with a picnic to welcome incoming freshmen to the campus. Through the year, the activities of the organization varied. The Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Service was well attended and was enjoyed by all. The Black Student Association also sponsored a Friday Forum speaker as was a primary speaker for the enrichment of the student body. In the spring the group held a gospel songfest which was excellent. The quality of the groups that sang was tremendous. The organization also held a Greek Show and sponsored a party afterward.

Members of the BSA participate in various aspects of student life including honoraries, varsity sports, intramurals, student government, and Greek life with AKA and Alpha Phi Alpha.

The year ended with a picnic to say farewell to senior members. During this year, the BSA has enjoyed success, fellowship, and friendship and the prospects for the upcoming year look even better.

Millsaps Christian Fellowship is a campus organization affiliated with Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. This is a student Christian organization found on many U.S. college campuses and on campuses abroad. The purpose is to establish, assist, and encourage at colleges, universities, nursing schools, and other comparable educational institutions in the U.S., groups of students and faculty who witness to the Lord Jesus Christ as God Incarnate and have these major objectives: 1. Evangelism—to lead others to personal faith in Christ; 2. Dicipleship—to help Christians grow toward maturity by study of the Bible, by prayer, and by fellowship. 3. Missions—to present the call of God to the world mission of the church and to help students and faculty discover God's Role for them."

Executive Council: Patton Stephens, Todd Clayton, Sandy O'Quinn, David Smith, Andrew Libby

Omicron Delta Kappa

ODK is the national leadership society founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University. The Pic Circle, now called the Millsaps, was founded in 1926 as the 16th of over 175 present circles and the first in the state of Mississippi.

ODK recognizes five major phases of college life: scholarship; athletics; social service; religious activities; and campus government; journalism; speech; and the mass media; and the creative and performing arts. Furthermore, there are five indispensable qualifications for membership: exemplary character; responsible leadership and service in campus life; superior scholarship; genuine fellowship; and consecration of to democratic ideals.

Beta Beta Beta

Beta Beta Beta was established at Millsaps College in 1968. It is a national honor society for students in the biological sciences. The purposes of Tri-Beta are to stimulate sound scholarship, promote the dissemination of scientific truth, and to encourage the investigation of the life sciences. Monthly meetings are held to discuss new ideas, research, and other material pertinent to biology and related sciences.

This year, Beta Beta Beta decided to do a little charity work. After some research, it was decided that the group would raise money for David Minga, a boy from Pearl, Mississippi with a rare skin disease. Because his father had obtained a raise in salary, the government cut off their aid to the family for the extremely high medical bills. Tri-Beta held a Student-Faculty Basketball game to raise the money. Raffle tickets were also sold by the members. The event was well publicized by the group and the media and the event was quite a success.

Campus Ministry Team

One of the highlights of the year for the Campus Ministry Team was the Anti-Apartheid Week. During the week, a film was shown on the issue and a speaker came and spoke about apartheid. At the end of the week, the organization built a Shantytown to depict life in South Africa. The event was quite a success, drawing students of all walks of life together for the project. It was unfortunate that some student(s) thought it cute to set the Shantytown aflame early Friday morning.

Purple and White

When Tuesdays roll around, everyone begins to keep an eye out for the latest issue of the Purple and White. In it they know they will find news of local as well as national events which affect the Millsaps community. The P&W serves as a useful tool for keeping students informed of important dates and meetings in its "Briefs" column. All the scores and highlights can be found in the "Sports" section. Music reviews by Reed tell what's hot and what's not. How do they do it? Just drop by the P&W office any Monday night and you'll find the staff in the midst of intense layout and typing sessions, all of which culminate in the next day's paper.

David and Amy confer about where to put an ad.

staff

letters to the editor

The Bobashela wishes to extend to its sister publication, the Purple and White, its sincerest apologies for not giving the paper its due recognition in past yearbooks. In the past, the familiar "Staff" box has been substituted as a group shot of the P&W staff. We, the Bobashela staff, realize how extremely hard the paper staff works to publish a paper each week and we believe they deserve more than a mere mention in our publication. Each week, members of the staff research, write, type, and layout stories for that week's P&W. On Monday nights, the group works fervently for however long it takes to have the paper ready for press the following morning. This takes patience and extreme dedication on the part of the editor and the staff, and the Bobashela wishes to recognize this effort in the 1986 Bobashela. Congratulations and keep up the good work!

Laying out the paper takes creative thinking and lots of time. David and Amy have shown a great deal of both.

Typesetting is a difficult task which Angie does well.

Sophomore Editor David Setzer has done great things with the paper this spring.

The Millsaps Singers

One word can sum up this year of the Singers—Exciting! From the moment the semester began, it was one new and adventurous concert after another. The year began with George Guest, from England. He chose the Singers as his model workshop choir while he was in Mississippi. And then there was the 50th Anniversary Concert featuring Beethoven's Fantasy, Beowulf, and The Trumpet of the Swan (text by Eudora Welty and score by Samuel Jones). This was the biggest event the Singers participated in. There was also the annual Fall Concert, a weekend tour of north Mississippi, and the annual production of The Messiah featuring student soloists. In the spring the Singers journeyed to south Mississippi for another weekend tour. Later, they sang for the MCDA convention in Oxford, where they received high praise by all. The Singers also sang for the kickoff banquet of the second phase of the campaign to raise $30 million. In addition their Spring Concert, the singers combined with several choirs and the Jackson Symphony to perform Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. As one can see, this year was quite exciting and successful.

Choir members join to sing in the 50th Anniversary Concert.

Such an outstanding choir would not be possible without an outstanding accompanist such as A. Lee Barlow, shown here on the organ.

The Troubadours

Front: Jimmy Lancaster, Gene Carleton, Leigh Ann Burns, Eleni Matos, Scot Newell. Back: Angie Womble, Keith Cook, Amy Dilworth, Jamie Ware, Tom Potter, Suzanne Sanders, Laura Barrett.

Again, this was a year of change for the Troubadours. They threw out those flashy outfits from 1985 and took on the look of young college prepster in 1986 with their striped button-downs and white sweater vests. The type of music they performed also changed this year, but it seemed to be a continuation of what was begun last year. The show was more of a variety show than a Broadway Revue. It featured segments for the country fans, the Broadway babes, the "golden oldies", and just some plain old fun tunes. The Troubadours were part of the Arts and Lecture series this year and performed several times out of town. They also performed for several private groups in Jackson and during exams they performed a shortened version of the show for the Board of Trustees Banquet.

In April, the Troubadours performed their show for the student body and the event was an overwhelming success. Favorite tunes from the show included: "Varsity Drag", "Don't Touch That Dial", "Blue Moon", "Sing, Sing a Song", "Next To Lovin'", "Sillouettes", and "Memory". For the Troubs, memorable events (not necessarily sentimental ones, either) included: Keith's ticket . . . Leigh Ann's sprained knee . . . Suzanne's jumping on the back fettish . . . the Board of Trustees "Dinner" . . . the 'Can we meet you there' syndrome . . . the sliding glass floor of the Recital Hall . . . Eleni and the Altos (an abbreviated version) . . . Keith rushes the "Next to Lovin'" beat . . . Scot's timing on the opening of "Don't Touch That Dial" . . . "Aren't you glad you use Dial!? . . ." . . . Jimmy's backwoods accent . . . "But Linda, (puff, puff) we can't do all that and sing, too!!!" . . . "Ya'll are behind the beat!" . . . Laura and Jamie, what are you doing? . . . Show Stoppers!!

The story of a nerd and her nerdy boyfriend, "Blue Moon" was fun to view and fun to do so. I'll still get you for that Dr. Coker!

The Troubs anxiously "watch" "The Lone Ranger" as Scot Newell prepared to introduce the crowd to "Don't Touch That Dial". Having Fun Keith?

Millsaps Welcomes Delta Delta Delta! In October three sororities made presentations for the faculty and students. Millsaps then invited Tri Delta to come on campus.

On March 21, 22, and 23, Delta Delta Delta National came to Jackson. That weekend rush parties and interviews were held and bids were extended. Thus began Gamma Zeta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta.

Tri Delta was originally founded at Boston University on Thanksgiving Eve, 1888. It was the first women's fraternity to be founded as a national organization with complete plans for governmental structure and expansion. Tri Delta is a member of the National Panhellenic Conference. One major philanthropy supports research and treatment of cancer in children. Tri Delta's symbols include the pearl, pine, pansy, and dolphin.

Football

Steve Fuson out runs one defender while dodging another in the game against Sewanee.

The Sewanee offense is stopped cold by the Major's defensive line.

The Majors had another All-American this year in Tommy Powell, a fine defensive end for the past four years. This is the only official All-American team chosen in Division III and only 22 players are picked in all the NCAA and NAIA Division II.

The 1985 football Majors will go down as a hard working team that was excellent on both sides of the football. The team had fine players at every position and the depth was exceptional with good replacements at every position. This gave the Majors winning seasons in eighteen of the past nineteen and this being unsurpassed by any senior college in Mississippi.

Once again the defense does its job well, shown here against Tennessee Wesleyan.

The Majors offense was one of the strongest in our division.

Football

This was one of the strongest teams that Millsaps has fielded in the history of the college itself. The team had more depth than any other Major teams and this was quality depth. The record was, again, a winning one. Millsaps finished 21st in the national rankings in the NCAA Division III.

Our tailback, Ricky Johnson, ranked twelveth in scoring nationally with 84 points, and sixteenth in rushing with 1,004 total rushing yards. The team as a whole ranked third nationally in scoring defense by allowing only 55 points, sixth in rushing defense by allowing an average of 53.6 yards per game, and seventh in total defense by only giving up 204.9 yards to our opponents. The offensive team ranked nineteenth in scoring offense with an average of 28.17 points per game and twelfth in rushing with an average of 232.2 yards per game.

The defense shows its stuff again against Sewanee.

How rare to get a shot of a perfect spiral thrown by a quarterback, especially with the Tennessee defense so near.

Trainer Jimmy Page gives some sideline advice to the players.

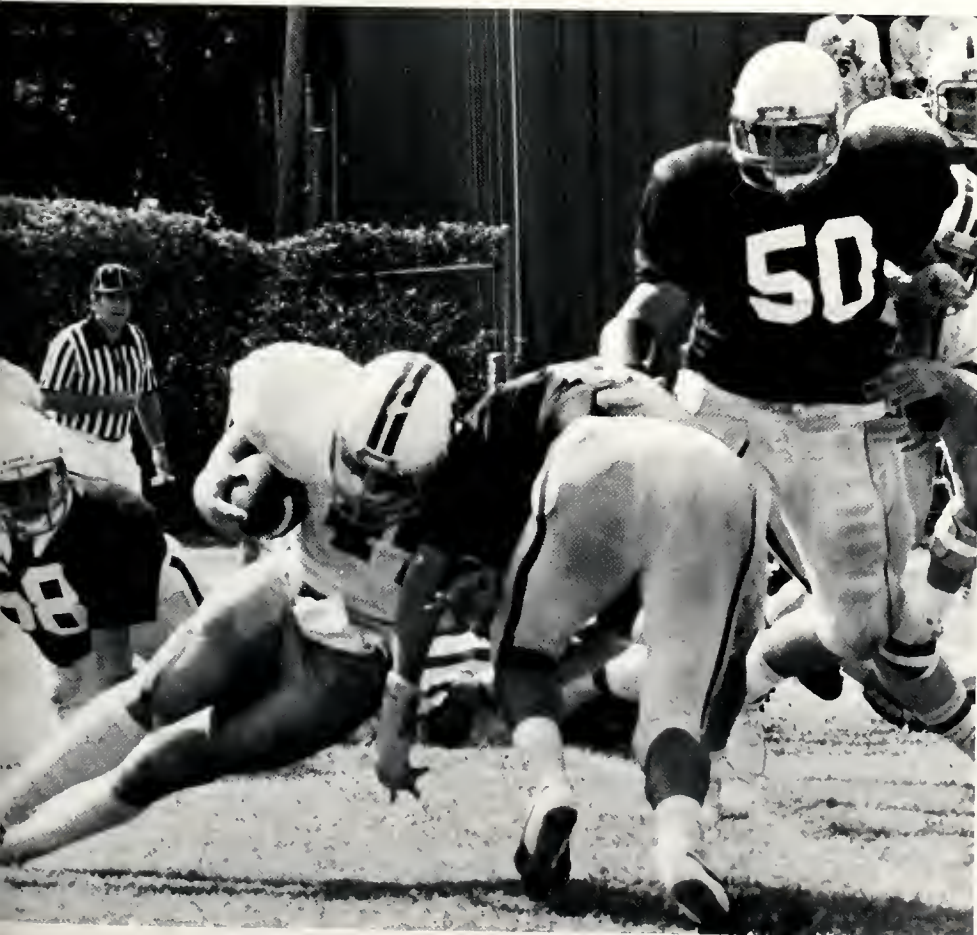

Blocking and running like this is what got the Majors ranked nationally.

Leaping to catch that pass is a Major wide receiver who obviously beat out his defender.

The Major defense shows why it was one of the best in our Division.

A Trinity running back is stopped for no gain.

Men's Soccer

The sideline gang provided support and assistance during the season.

The 1986 Millsaps Majors Men's Soccer team suffered a number of losses during the year. Not only was the season a losing one, but they lost a teammate, Dennis Mlakar, to an automobile accident. The rest of the season was difficult without Dennis, but the team courageously plodded on. The schedule was a difficult one with a brutal road schedule. The team was young and inexperienced this year and injuries caused many problems. Next year they will return seven starters and the prospect for the young players looks great.

Women's Soccer

The year 1986 was the inaugural year for women's varsity soccer. Actually, the program is the first in the state of Mississippi and once again Millsaps is the trend setter. Although the season was not a winning one, the team is to be highly commended for their record in the first year. Team members were very young and inexperienced. However, 16 of 18 players will return with the Lady Majors next year and 10 of 11 starters will be back. Leading the scoring, assists, and other things was senior forward Mary Woodward (10 goals, 5 assists, 25 points).

Baseball

The 1986 Millsaps baseball team was one of the youngest teams Millsaps has ever fielded. The starting nine included 7 sophomores, 1 junior, and 1 senior. As the season progressed the team matured and became stronger and stronger. The Majors are looking eagerly toward the upcoming 1987 season, feeling that the experience gained this season has helped them improve greatly.

Intramurals are an important part of the sports program at Millsaps. This organization gives those students who desire to play sports but who are either not good enough to make the varsity team or who just like to play for fun a chance to compete against their peers in a variety of sports. The intramural program is run by George Gober and an Intramural Council. These people drew up the constitution, set the rules, hear protests, and organize each sport.

Lambda Chi Cory Acuff pitches for his softball team.

Some intramural games draw quite a crowd, particularly if rival teams are playing.

Intramurals

Each new year brings more and more students into the Intramural program. Fraternities and sororities sponsor several teams each and the Independents often have more than one team playing each sport. When Tri-Delta colonized this spring, it was just a matter of days before they had their teams in the program. Quite often, the names of the teams are as much fun as the sports themselves. From simple names like Phi Mu #1 and Independents to creative names which we dare not print and those which have meaning only to the players themselves, the names say quite a bit about the team. Trophies are given in each category of sports at the end of the year so competition is often quite tough. But for whatever reason one plays intramurals, the program is an important one and will continue to grow at Millsaps.

Cheerleaders

Bill Lang and the Major play around before a game.

The addition of the Major to the squad this year helped to boost spirits even more. The character has quite a personality!

The Millsaps Cheerleaders should be commended for the job they do in boosting the spirit of the students. The squad is responsible for all signs used before and during games, for holding pep rallies, and they go to and from out of town games at their own expense to support the Majors. This year, the squad added a new member to the group—The Major. Upon the arrival of the costume in September, a special election was held to determine who would portray the character. Elections for cheerleaders are held each spring for the following fall.

Records Office Adult Degree Department

The '85-'86 year marked the fourth year of the Adult Degree Program at Millsaps. Enrollment in the program has increased yearly from seven in 1982 to sixty-one in 1985. The first program of its kind in Mississippi, the ADP is designed specifically to offer an opportunity to earn a college degree to adults aged 24 and older. Today, adult students comprise 25% of the student body.

The office of adult learning also sponsors various community enrichment courses throughout the year.

AN ADVENTURE IN DINING

In Memoriam

Dennis Paul Mlakar
1967-1985

David Walker Meeks
1967-1986

We hope that our attempt to capture the spirit of Millsaps from its beginning to the present has been a successful one.

The production of a yearbook is never an easy task, and I would like to thank all those who pitched in to get the job done. My deepest gratitude goes to Leigh Ann and Cory, who worked incessantly throughout the year to get information and pictures. I would also like to recognize the section editors who managed to turn out their sections with little or no staff—and thanks to those few staffers who did show up to help.

I would like to thank Dean Good for always being there to lend an administrative hand, and our company representative Mr. J.C. Anthony for giving technical advice. Thanks also to the SBA for assisting us with the election of class favorites and to the P&W and Stylus for being "good neighbors".

Again, I hope that this volume of the Bobashela accurately reflects life at Millsaps and conveys our optimism for its future.
